COMPETERE

We are a policy institute that performs analysis and advocacy to foster global trade, innovation, and resilient and sustainable supply chains, to promote sustainable nutrition, and to empower individuals in their effort to thrive and prosper in a fair and free society and in harmony with the ecosystem.

Problem solver

Enabling the solutions of complex economic and social problems through sound policies.

- We are a friend you can rely on.
- We help you understand what is really happening in your field.
- We help you to consider all the options in order to make the right choices.
- We help you understand what is really happening in your field.
- We encourage you to broaden your perspective and to think critically and objectively.
- We support you in engaging and convincing your interlocutors so that they become your partners and allies.

What we do

We work together with international governments, businesses and organisations so that their strategic choices are far-sighted and they are able to implement effective policies thanks to the experimental analysis of problems and the involvement of the reference communities.

We reject any approach that is ideological or conformist in nature, in favour of directions that are creative and innovative.

Research

- Understanding what is happening using data analysis and intelligence
- Elaborating analysis and studies that offer policy solutions and governmental and corporate strategies

Dissemination

- Popularising the results of our analysis so that they can change the world
- Organizing training programmes and encounters to share knowledge and best practices.

Advocacy

- Promoting sound policies
- Engaging stakeholders, policy makers and public officials

What we believe in

We believe that public policies must:

- stimulate investment in social and technological innovation
- provide incentive to entrepreneurship and commerce
- and create the conditions for economic and social growth and stability

We promote free initiative and free trade because we are convinced that

- they improve the economic and social conditions of citizens
- promote social balance among different groups of individuals and broaden freedom

People

We are a community of curious, creative and entrepreneurial analysts, researchers, and professionals. We share the common goal of designing a more prosperous future by supporting critical thinking, in an age of prejudices, biases and recurring ideologies.
